ANNOUNCEMENTS FROM THE CLINIC

There are 2 myths that are simply not true

Source: HomlesLibrary.com

Myth 1: Homeless People are Nothing Like You and Me

I once took a visitor through our shelter at 10:00 p.m. It was a really crowded night and we had 40-50 people sleeping in our dining room. His eyes were huge, never having really seen poverty up close. He kept saying, "Those people don't look homeless!"

He had come to believe that homeless people are almost a different race of human beings. They were individuals "wholly other" than us. That's simply not true. Try this: next time you see some ragged soul with a cardboard sign panhandling on the side of the road, remember:

- * He has (or had) parents that loved him, just like you.
- * He played with toys when he was a child, just like you.
- * He has had crushes on people and (hopefully) been in love, just like you.
- * He has pains and hopes and dreams and disappointments, just like you.

Thinking that homeless people are totally different than you is wrong and dangerous.

And do not grieve the Holy Spirit of God, with whom you were sealed for the day of redemption. Get rid of all bitterness, range and anger, brawling and slander,

Myth 2: Homeless People are Just Like You and Me

Thinking that homeless people are exactly like you is also wrong and dangerous. A homeless person's life and experience are very different from yours.

Test yourself. Answer YES or NO if you have ever:

- _____Been evicted or foreclosed on? _____Eaten out of a dumpster?
- Gone longer than 48 hours without eating? _____Been forced to panhandle to survive?
- Slept outside in the winter without a tent or sleeping bag? _____Been mugged?
- Been arrested? Been sexually assaulted? Been ticketed for jaywalking?
- ____Gone more than a week without access to a shower?
- _____Had to go to the bathroom (no. 2) outside in a city? _____Slept in a bed with bedbugs?
- _____Worn the same clothes for more than two weeks straight? _____Grown up poor?
- _____Had something thrown at you out of a moving car? _____Lost all hope?

Many of you will be able to answer "yes" to some of these (I have experienced three of them). Unless you've been homeless, though, you probably have not experienced most of these things. Someone with these very different experiences looks at the world differently than you do. It is helpful to understand and appreciate the very real ways that a person experiencing homelessness is different from you.

In fact, understanding those differences is at the root of empathy.

among with every form of malice. Be kind and compassionate to one another, forgiving each other, just as Christ God forgave you. ___Ephesians 4:30-32

Clinical Sympathy vs. Empathy vs. Compassion

Sympathy is a statement of emotional concern and response to a person. Empathy is an intellectual reflection of emotional understanding. Compassion is "to suffer with" (Latin), it is a desire to alleviate the suffering of the other person. The empathic component of medicine is what makes a medical professional special; without it, we are in essence, highly trained computers.
